

primary health care

The Project aims to improve people's health and quality of life through education and preventative health care. The programmes include the provision of safe, clean water, the vaccination of all babies and children, mother- and-child health care, minor first aid, environmental health, family planning and communicable disease control.

The
Integrated Holistic Approach
Urban Development Project

Addis Ababa